NORTH AMERICAN DISCRIMINATES IN LIGHT RATES

Special Price to St. Charles, Although Law Forbids Any Locality Preference.

ST. LOUIS RATE HIGHER
Unlimited Electric Current, 24 Hours a Day, 7 Rooms, $18 a Year in St. Charles.

The North American company is selling electric current in unlimited quantities to residents of St. Charles, Mo., at a flat rate (unmetered service) of $18 a month, while it continues to charge St. Louis residence customers as high as 10 cents per kilowatt hour, in the face of a Missouri statute forbidding discrimination in favor of any person or locality by public service corporations.

In St. Charles the unmetered system permits the customer to operate an unlimited number of lights in a 7-room house, an electric iron, a fan and either a percolator or a toaster, for 24 hours each day, for $18 a year. It is possible to obtain this unmetered service at $12 a year, as the basis of the rate is the active room, for each of which $8 a year is charged.

In St. Louis the occupant of a four-room flat, using the electrical accessories permitted in a single month for current, used sparingly, than the most lavish user of current in a 7-room house at St. Charles.

Competition in St. Charles.
Active competition exists in St. Charles. The Union Electric, a North American subsidiary, enjoys a practical monopoly of the electric field in St. Louis, through its control of public streets, which rival companies are seeking to break down.

Attorneys of the Union Electric last week pleaded with the St. Louis Board of Public Improvements to refuse to permit to its rivals, urging that the policy of "unfair competition" and that provided the Public Service Commission with full power to regulate rates and service as the protection of the public.

The Public Service Act of 1913, under which the commission operates, provides: "No electric company or utility shall make or grant any undue or unreasonable preference or LOYALTY, or to any particular description of service in any respect whatsoever, or subject any particular person, corporation or LOYALTY, or any particular description of service to any undue or unreasonable prejudice or advantage in any respect whatsoever."

Keokuk Current Is Sold.
The North American Co., according to its official statements, owns all the capital stock of the American Light and Power Co., which operates in St. Charles, and 86 per cent of the capital stock of the Union Electric Light and Power Co., which is its St. Louis subsidiary.

The current which is sold in St. Charles is Keokuk water power, current, taken from the Page avenue transforming station of the North American Co., from which the Union Electric and its other Missouri subsidiaries get water power current.

It is the rule in all parts of the United States and of the world that electric rates decrease and the cost per capita of service decreases in proportion to the number of consumers and proximity of consumers in the community served.

The population of St. Charles in 1914 is estimated at 10,000 and of St. Louis at 750,000.

Competitor Meets Rate.
The unmetered service at $180 per month was established in St. Charles June 1 by the North American subsidiary, which obtained a franchise 14 months ago on the assurance that Keokuk current would cut the lighting rates for all classes of consumers.

Thursday the St. Charles Electric Light and Power Co., which has operated in St. Charles for 30 years under St. Louis ownership, filed a duplicate of the unmetered service rate with the Missouri Public Service Commission, asking that the commission make the rate effective at once.

President Hugo Wurdack of the St. Charles E. L. & P. Co. explained in a letter to the commission that the $180 per month rate for unmetered service was proposed only because the competing company had established it.

Wurdack told a reporter that he regarded the low rate made by the North American Co. as a temporary arrangement designed to give customers in St. Charles from the older company.

Contracts Limited to Year.
E. J. Baum, resident manager at St. Charles for the North American property, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday that he believed the unmetered service at $180 per month would be profitable to the company, although it was put forward as an experiment and contracts would not be written for longer than a year at that rate. Baum said it did not follow that a similar rate would be profitable in St. Louis or any other larger city.

Denver Drops Sex Hygiene Classes.
DENVER, Colo., June 4.—Sex hygiene will no longer be taught in the Denver public schools. The school board last night adopted a report dropping the name of the instructor in this department from the list of teachers.

COL. BELL HAS HIS WHISKERS CUT OFF AFTER 47 YEARS

Former National Committeeman Has Beard Mowed at Daughter's Request.

Col. Nicholas M. Bell of 440 West Pine boulevard, former Democratic National Committeeman, who has worn a beard for 47 years, appeared on the streets Wednesday without the beard. He is 88 years old, and had carried Nature's full adornment on his chin since he was 21.

When Col. Bell was a young man he took an eternal vow that a razor should never touch his face. He insists that the vow was not broken and that the whiskers were not removed by the keen edge of a razor. They were mowed off with a pair of shears.

Everywhere Col. Bell went—at the Mercantile Club, in the hotel lobbies and on the streets—everybody demanded to know why he had his whiskers cut off. The persistence of the demand annoyed the Colonel to such an extent that he threatened to arm himself and extinguish the next man who asked the question.

"To settle it once for all, I am going to let you into the secret," said Col. Bell to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I submitted off-get that, sheared off, not shaved off—because my daughter made me do it."

OFFERS TO PUT "NUMBER" ON A LAWYER'S JAW

Court Clerk Challenges A. M. Frumberg, Who Tells Him, "I'll Get Your Number."

A surprise, sprung by Circuit Judge Wurdman at Clayton, Thursday afternoon, put a sudden end to the divorce suit of Hyman L. Goldman against Minnie E. Goldman.

After Goldman had testified, Judge Wurdman produced a letter from Mrs. Goldman, stating she divorced Goldman in St. Louis, May 6, 1913, on grounds of desertion. The record showed this to be true.

A. M. Frumberg, attorney for Goldman, expressed surprise and at once withdrew the Goldman suit. Frumberg asked S. Mark Dodd, Clerk of the Court, why the letter had been withheld from him. He said it should have been made a part of the record in the case.

"It wasn't a part of the record," replied Dodd. "It was a private communication to the judge."

"Well, I'll get your number," said Frumberg.

A few minutes later Frumberg and Dodd met near the entrance to the courtroom.

"If you want my number, I'll stamp it on your jaw with my fist," said Dodd. Frumberg went back into the courtroom and a Deputy Sheriff warned him and Dodd that there must be no disturbance.

GOV. DUNNE, MARRIED MAN, GETS A MARRIAGE OFFER

Memphis Woman Writes She Holds Him Year and Gets Photo of His Family in Reply.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 4.—Gov. Edward F. Dunne has a wife, nine sturdy children and one grandson, but he received a tentative proposal of marriage today from a Memphis, Tenn., woman, who was inspired when she read of the Governor pardoning a convict on the plea of the convict's wife.

"I love to look on you," wrote the Memphis woman, "and I am going to send you my photo. Tell me if this is appreciated, and if you are a married man. Truthfully, I hold you very dear, if you are married or not."

The Governor's secretary, in reply, sent a large photograph, picturing Gov. Dunne in the center of his family group.

PISTOL IN DEAD MAN'S GRASP WOUNDS TOURIST

BERNE, Switzerland, June 4.—A remarkable accident occurred yesterday near Willigen. Some tourists were walking through the forest when they came upon the body of a man who evidently had ended his life by shooting himself. The right hand still tightly clutched a revolver.

One of the tourists attempted to remove the weapon and when he pulled the trigger the dead man's fingers from the trigger the revolver went off. The bullet pierced the tourist's chest, and he is so badly wounded that a fatal result is feared.

SCHUMANN-HEINK DRAWS CROWD AT HER DIVORCE TRIAL

Gowned in Black, She Uses Smelling Salts, and Tells How She Does Housework.

Singer's Attorney Says Her Husband, Rapp, Sent Ring to Mrs. C. E. Dean.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, famous opera star, wearing a handsome black summer gown, waving a fan and making frequent use of smelling salts, entered Judge Sullivan's court today to state her case for divorce against William Rapp Jr.

In one corner of the room stood the defendant surrounded by friends, and in another the singer, with her friends. There was a large crowd of onlookers, mostly anxious to see what a prima donna looks like off the stage.

It required most of the forenoon to fill the jury box. The singer accuses her husband of misconduct.

Elias Mayer, attorney for the complainant, named Mrs. Catherine E. Dean of New York City as correspondent.

"I do washing, too," "We will show," he declared, "that this defendant lived at the apartment of the correspondent, at 307 Michigan street, and that later they were together at 2720 Manhattan avenue. We will show that Rapp sent Mrs. Dean a diamond engagement ring and that she wrote her a letter in which he said he had no steady income, but would send her $25 a week if she would be satisfied."

Counsel for Rapp, who has filed a cross-bill, deferred their statement to the jury.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, the first witness, gave her residence as 3072 Michigan avenue. Her domestic traits were remembered by the spectators with smiles when, in insisting that this was her real home, the witness said:

"When I am here I live there and every day I help in tidying up and cleaning the place. I do washing, too. She and Rapp separated a year ago. Direct examination by Attorney Mayer ceased abruptly without any attempt to go into the life of the witness with Rapp or his alleged relations with Mrs. Dean.

She is 53; Has Eight Children.
The singer shed tears as she spoke of improving her house in New Jersey and she apologized for her limited command of English.

She has eight children, one adopted, and seven by previous marriages. The oldest she said is 32 years of age.

Ben M. Smith, counsel for Rapp, described his first queries to ascertain whether the witness, who was born in Prague, Austria, 53 years ago, has a right to sue in this country. She said she had been singing in the United States for 15 years.

"Where you to home last Christmas?" "At home last Christmas? Of course I was! I couldn't forget the most important things in my life," she answered. In June of last year the singer went to Culver, Ind., to be present at the graduation of her son, Franz George Washington Heink.

"Did you go alone?" asked Smith. "My daughter, my chauffeur, my cooks, my waiters and a gentleman went with me," she replied.

T. R. BITTERLY ATTACKED BY NEWSPAPER IN MADRID

MADRID, June 4.—Commenting on the coming visit of Col. Roosevelt, El Imparcial, the foremost newspaper in Spain, publishes a bitter anti-Roosevelt editorial.

The newspaper reminds its readers that the Colonel fought the Spaniards as a volunteer and that his actions were most unflattering to Spain. The paper also recalls the strong anti-Spanish sentiment that prevailed in the United States at that time and recounts afresh the story that in a circus in New York City a trained monkey was exhibited which trampled the Spanish flag under its feet, to the delight of the audiences.

Finally the opinion is expressed that Col. Roosevelt's visit to Spain is undesirable, and should be considered to be of a strictly private nature.

Another Notch!

On Wednesday of this week the POST-DISPATCH added still another notch to its list of records as the one big advertising medium of St. Louis, by printing more display advertising from the St. Louis merchants than its three next nearest competitors combined.

The score Wednesday was as follows:
Post-Dispatch alone, 50 cols.

Globe-Democrat, Republic and Times, its 3 nearest competitors, all added together, 49 cols.

PRINCESS AMONG ATTENDANTS FOR ROOSEVELT BRIDE

Princess of Thurn and Taxis Will Be One of Miss Willard's Bridesmaids.

PREMIER TO BE A GUEST

Gala Procession Will Take Wedding Party From Embassy to Madrid Church.

MADRID, June 4.—Because Ambassador Willard desires to observe all the requirements of the Spanish laws, the magistrate of the Buena Vista district will perform the civil marriage ceremony for Miss Belle Willard, the Ambassador's daughter, and Kermit Roosevelt, June 10. The American Embassy is situated in the Buena Vista district, the most aristocratic section of the city.

When the Minister of State learned that the Ambassador desired to observe the Spanish law in this respect, he suggested the justice should go to the American Embassy, but as the embassy is beyond the legal control of the magistrate, being technically United States territory, a room has been fitted up in the magistrate's own residence, where the ceremony will take place.

Cabinet Ministers to Attend.
The formal witnesses doubtless will include Eduardo Dato, the Spanish Premier; the Marquis of Lema, the Minister of State; Myron T. Herrick, the American Ambassador in Paris, and Col. Roosevelt. The religious service will take place at noon the next day in the chapel of the British Embassy. The chapel is in a pavilion in the embassy grounds.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel N. Watson, pastor of the American Protestant Episcopal Church in Paris, will perform the service, assisted by the Rev. Herbert Brown, chaplain of the British Embassy in Madrid.

The wedding party will proceed from the Ambassador's house to the chapel in automobiles and gala carriages, among which probably will be one of the court equipages with a representative of the King of Spain.

The bride's dress will be of ivory satin with tulle and a court train. She will wear orange blossoms arranged with lace and a long veil of tulle and lace. The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Willard, will wear white satin with a tulle of pale blue tulle.

Princess Among Bridesmaids.
The bridesmaids, Her Serene Highness the Princess of Thurn and Taxis, Miss Katherine Page, Miss Glone Le Veneux de Tillerens and Miss Virginia Christian, will wear white tulle with orange and yellow and yellow ribbons tied under the chin. They will carry bouquets of yellow orchids.

The wedding breakfast will be served in the American Embassy and a reception, to which some thousands of persons have been invited, including all the diplomatic corps and many officials and members of the highest Spanish nobility will follow.

Col. Joseph E. Willard, United States Ambassador, and Mrs. Willard had King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain as their guests at luncheon at the American Embassy today. Kermit Roosevelt and the British and German Ambassadors also were guests.

A brilliant reception followed, which was attended by the members of the diplomatic corps and many persons prominent in the society of the Spanish capital. A Russian ballet was given for the entertainment of the guests.

Faust to Open Mansion to Public for Charity

New Marble Palace to Be Scene of Big Tea Party Orphans' Home Will Receive Proceeds

Residence at Portland Place and King's Highway Has 25 Rooms.

IS A STOREHOUSE OF ART

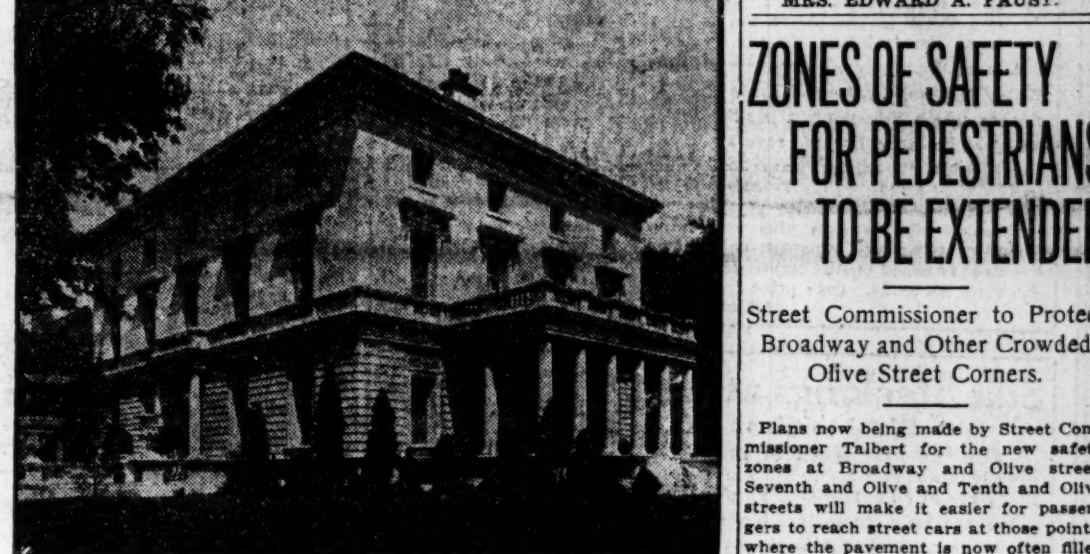

Exterior Patterned After Roman and Florentine Types; Interior Richly Decorated.

An opening to the public of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Faust, 1 Portland place, a marble palace in the Italian style, and one of the most beautiful and costly of St. Louis residences, will take place next November, after the Fausti return from a summer stay in Europe.

The occasion will be an afternoon tea for the benefit of the St. Louis Protestant Orphan's Home, a charity in which Mrs. Faust is interested. The price of admission will be sufficiently low to enable thousands to view the interior of the magnificent dwelling, which is recognized as one of the show places of St. Louis.

Daughter of Adolphus Busch.
Mrs. Faust is a daughter of the late Adolphus Busch, and his portrait, painted by Zorn, is one of the art works in the residence. Mr. and Mrs. Faust and their two children, with Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch and Miss Marie Busch, will sail on the Vaterland June 16.

At a meeting of the Governing Board of the Orphan's Home, held recently, Mrs. Faust was present and the suggestion was made that she should open her home for a tea for the benefit of the hospital. She received the idea favorably, and after talking the matter over with her husband, she decided to comply with the request. The exact time will be set after their return from Europe. It was stated at the Faust mansion Thursday.

Copies From Italian Work.
In the construction of the white marble mansion, the Fausti and their architect, Tom Barnett, sought to avoid over-ornamentation. Such articles or ornaments as are used, like the building itself, in the choicest classical style. The wall along King's highway, lined with orange trees, is a copy of the balustrade of the Villa Borghese, Rome. The gates are copied from those of a Roman church. Other details of the exterior architecture and decoration follow Florentine models.

The Portland place entrance is over a broad terrace, with classic stone seats by the way. On pedestals at the entrance are two vases, replicas of two in the Vatican museum. Solid bronze gates, made of antique Florentine altar rails, and grilles taken from a Florentine palace guard doors of solid bronze and plate glass.

At the east entrance, on King's highway, is an open loggia, with a colonnade of white pillars, which are reflected in a pool in the garden. On the west side, over the porte cochere, is an open sleeping veranda.

Handwrought Bronze Stairway.
The interior is rich with decorations. A circular stairway in handwrought bronze attracts attention as one enters, and a huge bronze lamp in the vestibule is a duplicate of the famous one in the Baptistery of Pisa. Mural paintings and frescoes in the hall and living room form a contrast with the panelling and tapestry in the drawing room.

The dining room is in the Italian style, with vaulted ceilings. The second floor, besides bedrooms, contains the morning room. On the third floor is a ballroom. The house has 25 large rooms, besides bathrooms and kitchen, the kitchen being in the basement.

Herman Slickens, known in Germany as the "coffee king," praised the Faust mansion as his ideal of a palatial residence, and asked permission to duplicate the design in things his new home in Baden-Baden.

Huge Emblem to Be Hoisted on Jefferson Memorial June 14.
A feature of the celebration of Flag day in St. Louis, June 14, will be a mammoth flag, 150 feet long and 73 feet wide. CARRANZA HOLDS KEY TO DEADLOCK OF MEDIATION

Constitutionalist Chief's Answer to Note Forwarded to Him Yesterday Will Go Far Toward Aiding or Delaying Settlement of Troubles.

Messages Kept From Public Until Leader Makes Final Answer—His Washington Representative Confers With Lind.

Ship Load of Arms Bound for Tampico Probably Will Be Allowed to Land Without Objection Being Made.

By Associated Press.

VERA CRUZ, June 4.—The price demanded by Provisional President Huerta for his retirement in legalization of his official acts as Provisional President, according to advices from the capital today.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Carranza loomed today as the crux in the mediation situation. Upon his message to the South American envoys hung the immediate scope of diplomatic endeavor, to bring order out of war and chaos in the Southern republic.

The note was expected definitely to determine whether mediation shall be confined to the dispute between Huerta and the United States or to include the entire problem of Mexico's pacification with the constitutionalists represented at the Niagara conference.

Carranza at Durango was in telegraphic communication with his agents here until late in the night. They transmitted to him the note of the mediators, which had been written in administration language expressing "astonishment" that the Niagara proceedings had been started without constitutionalists participation. It was believed Carranza's answer would not be delayed. It was expected to reach here today, but was subject to indications that it would not be made public until after it had reached the mediators through Rafael Zuburana, Constitutionalists Minister of the Interior in charge of the Washington agency.

Agents Confer With Lind.
The Constitutionalists agency declined to give out the contents of the note from the mediators and they would not reveal what took place in exchange with their chief. They were communicating to Carranza to discuss terms of restoring peace. Secretary Bryan reiterated that mediation was "progressing favorably."

Some suggestions were heard in official quarters that there might be delay in the mediation program, as it was originally outlined, but these were coupled with declarations of belief that ultimately the entire situation would be composed and reflections were heard here of the envoys' confident hope that Carranza would send delegates to Niagara. However, some observers of the situation took the position that he might not agree to the mediators' terms for his participation.

Arms Going to Villa.
Assistant Secretary of War of the Navy Department was to take up with Provisional President Wilson and Secretary Bryan tonight the report from Mexico City that Huerta had ordered his Minister of War to send Federal gunboats to Tampico to halt shipments of arms for the Constitutionalists, said to be en route from New Orleans. Mr. Roosevelt had stated that no orders had been sent to American naval commanders as to the treatment of the steamer Antilla, said to be carrying ammunition for Villa, when she appeared in Mexican waters. That was regarded as an answer to the query as to whether American warships would give protection to the Antilla if Huerta gunboats attempted to overhail her.

Previously, however, it had been generally understood that Rear Admiral Badger had been informed by the Navy Department that the Washington Government desired that there be no interference with navigation at Tampico. In some quarters, it was asserted that American ships could not interfere with any blockade by Huerta without violation of the armistice.

REBELS SURROUND GUADALAJARA AND CAPTURE COLINA

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, MAZATLAN, Mexico, June 3 (via wireless to San Diego, Cal., June 4).—Communication between the west coast of Mexico and Mexico City has been severed, according to information reaching the American fleet here today.

A party of Constitutionalists, en route from San Blas to Las Tres Marias islands, 80 miles west of Tepic, captured the Federal prison and the radio station which will isolate the Federal forces.

JUROR INJURED WHEN HIS CHAIR COLLAPSES

It is the Fourth Chair of Number Bought for County to Collapse Since May 1.

J. E. Litschich, 46 years old, of 1702 Bellevue avenue, Richmond Heights, a member of the May grand jury in Clayton, was injured Wednesday when his chair he occupied collapsed under him. A physician found he had suffered a badly wrenched back, an injury to the spine, a sprained left wrist and badly bruised index finger on the right hand.

Litschich's chair was the fourth of those used by the jurors to collapse since May 1. The St. Louis County Court, which purchased them, has ordered 12 more of a different make. The jurors are temporarily using chairs from the juvenile Court and will endeavor to learn whether the chairs originally used are defective or if some mischievous person has been tampering with them.

Boy, 11, in 11-Hour Spelling Bee, Wins on 1400th Word

William Boselager of the Webster School Is Victor in 2-Day Contest in East St. Louis.

William Boselager, 11 years old, of 1241 Fisher avenue, East St. Louis, a pupil in the first division of the sixth grade of the Webster School, established a record in East St. Louis Wednesday when he completed a spelling match in which he spelled 1400 words without a miss.

The match was limited to 35 boys and girls of the same grade, chosen from different schools. They started spelling at 9 a. m. Tuesday and spelled until noon. They started again at 1 and spelled until 4. The next morning the spelling from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 2:30, when the Boselager boy's opponent missed leaving him the victory, all others having been spelled down long before. He had been in the contest 11½ hours. During the match the pupils were allowed a five-minute rest after each 50 words.

Boselager will get a gold medal, one being offered to the winner of the match held in each grade. In the second division of the sixth grade Eugene Compton, 11 years old, was the victor, spelling 1200 words.

operating in the west from any direct touch with their chief.

Guadalajara, the objective point of the recent operations of the Constitutional army of the Northwest, under command of Gen. Obregon, has been surrounded. Three columns of Obregon's army, according to official information, reaching Admiral Howard, have succeeded in shutting off the city from the national capital on the east and Manzanillo and the Pacific Coast on the west.

Three Forces Near City.

The isolation of Guadalajara was accomplished by the simultaneous movement of three forces, commanded by Gen. Diegues, Buena and Lavilla. Gen. Diegues, swinging southward upon Manzanillo, has cut the railroad and telegraph communication between Guadalajara and that port. His objective point is Manzanillo.

Gen. Buena has marched northward on San Marcos, the western terminus of the railroad running west from Guadalajara toward the Pacific coast of the State of Jalisco. He has intercepted all communication between Guadalajara and that territory, according to reports.

Gen. Lavilla is operating east of Guadalajara and is reported in possession of the railroad connecting that city with the Mexican capital.

Colima Reported Captured.

The schooner Leonor, with a cargo of supplies for the beleaguered Federal garrison of Mazatlan, was prevented from discharging her freight today by the capture of Colima, Obregon's Constitutional batteries. The captain of the vessel announced he would attempt to fight to the last.

A Constitutional officer today informed Admiral Howard that Colima, capital of the State of that name, and one of the most important cities in southwestern Mexico, had fallen into the hands of the Constitutionalists under Gen. Alamillo, former Governor of Colima.

HUERTA FORCES PUT AT 60,000

VERA CRUZ, June 4.—Capt. W. A. Burnside, formerly military attaché at Mexico City and now intelligence officer of Brigadier-General Funston's force, today submitted a memorandum on the strength and disposition of Huerta's troops and summarizing the territorial division between the Federal and the Constitutionalists. He estimates the total number of Huerta forces, including police, students and civil service employees, at 60,000. As to the Constitutionalists, the note says:

"Practically the entire country is in sympathy with revolution and the pacified condition in many places is due to intimidation or indifference. For the purpose of robbery 100,000 armed men claim to be revolutionists. However, the armed revolutionists having an organization and being actually under fair control of their leaders, are estimated at about 30,000."

Of the Huerta forces the reports indicate that about 8000 are scattered along the railroads between Vera Cruz and the capital and that the garrison at Mexico City numbers 10,000, including students and Government employees. The estimate says there are only 3000 regulars in the capital.

The strongest Federal garrisons, of 6000 each, are at San Luis Potosi and Aguascalientes, with 6000 at Guaymas. Discussing the probable next movements of Villa's troops on the capital, Capt. Burnside sees no possibility of the success of that campaign for many months. He says that, even with San Luis Potosi taken, which is not yet accomplished, the Constitutionalists will have to fight their way 315 miles to the capital through the concentrated forces of the Federal army fully supplied with arms and ammunition.

Capt. Burnside dismisses the Zapatistas as "not able successfully to operate except in the immediate vicinity of their home."

He declares Zapata's arms supply comes from the defeated Federalists sent out from the capital. He estimates the Zapatista forces at 15,000 in scattered bands.

Mediators Take Up Other Work While Waiting for Carranza.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ontario, June 4.—While waiting to hear from Gen. Carranza whether he would send delegates to the conference here, the mediators planned today to continue such work as would not be affected by the Constitutional answer.

The peace plan on which the two sets of delegates have been working for two weeks has been only partially completed. Much of the work will be of value even if the Constitutionalists decide to enter the negotiations. The mediation colony is absorbed, however, in the Constitutional phase of the Mexican problem. Word in respect to it is awaited with much intense interest. The feeling is general that the attitude taken by Gen. Carranza in his reply probably will shape the entire course of the mediation hereafter and perhaps have a direct effect on the Washington Government's future policy toward the two factions in Mexico. Those who have seen the mediators' note to the Constitutionalists say it is so phrased that they can find therein a dignified way of entering the negotiations, notwithstanding their previous objections.

United States Desires to Keep Tampico Port Open.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the Navy Department sent a cablegram to Rear Admiral Badger late last night informing him of the report that Huerta's Minister of War had ordered Federal gunboats to blockade Tampico.

Booster: It said no new order would be sent to Admiral Badger until the situation could be placed before President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. It previously had been generally understood that Rear Admiral Badger had been informed by the Navy Department that the Washington Government desired that there be no interference with navigation at Tampico.

Mexico City Hears Mediation Has Failed.

MEXICO CITY, June 4.—A widely circulated rumor here yesterday morning that the Niagara mediation conference had failed has just been denied officially.

Silk Stockings at About Half Price—$1.50 to $2.50 Values at 98c Pair

For the first week of our June Sale comes one of our eagerly-looked-forward-to sales of women's "slightly imperfect" Silk Stockings at an average saving of about one-half price.

We are able to offer these stockings at such a ridiculously low price because they are not up to the extremely high standard always maintained by the manufacturer and were, therefore, classed as "slightly imperfect," though these imperfections can rarely be detected, except by an expert, and in no case do they mar the appearance or injure the wearing qualities of the stockings.

These silk stockings are the grades that would ordinarily sell at $1.50 to $2.50 a pair when absolutely perfect. Sale price, while they last 98c

SKINNER IS CALLED A 'RUBBERSTAMP' DIRECTOR BY FOLK

New Haven Witness Says He Took Accountant's Word for Value of Billard Securities.

MELLEN NOT FORCED OUT

He Could Have Retained Presidency of Road, Witness Tells Investigators.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—William Skinner, a director of the New Haven Railroad, continued his testimony today at the Interstate Commerce Commission's inquiry into the railroad's financial affairs. Lewis Cass Ledyard and George F. Baker, directors and George F. Minot, a former director, were present, waiting to testify. Ledyard will testify as a voluntary witness.

"Why did the directors make a report to the stockholders to the effect that the New Haven held market securities of the Billard Company worth $10,000,000 when they were, in reality, of little value?" Chief Counsel Folk asked Skinner.

"I took the word of the accounting department of the road," he replied.

"Have you no auditing committee on the board?"

"No, but we employ certified accountants."

"Do you not know that the accountants said they had not been able to determine the value of the securities?"

Called a "Rubber Stamp Director."

"No, I cannot speak for the other directors, but as far as I am concerned, I took the word of the accounting department."

"Then so far as these securities were concerned you were merely a 'rubber-stamp director'?"

"I did not and could not investigate all of these details. I accepted the report of the accounting department of the value of the securities."

"Did you know of the 'Prayer from the Hills,' issued to create public sentiment?"

"Yes."

"Do you think it was proper to try to influence public feeling in that way?"

"I believe a railroad or other public corporation has the right to create public sentiment in its favor."

Approves Interlocking Directorates.

"By deception? Do you think it is right to circulate literature purporting to come from the people when, as a matter of fact, it was sent out by the railroad?"

"With all the hue and cry against the railroads, they must create sentiment in their favor."

"Are they justified in using any method?"

"No, but they must create the sentiment."

"You have a representative of the Pennsylvania Railroad on the New Haven board and a representative of the New York Central?" asked Folk.

"Yes, both roads are represented on the New Haven board. The Pennsylvania is a very large stockholder."

"Do you think that interlocking directorates work in the public interest?"

"I think so, yes. We get a tremendous traffic from the Pennsylvania. I believe the public gets a better service by our working together."

"In other words, by creating a transportation monopoly?" suggested Folk.

"By no means. Such an arrangement creates no monopoly. It works for the betterment of both the roads and the public."

Skinner was then questioned by William Nelson Cromwell, appearing for several of the directors.

Cause of New Haven Troubles.

"What brought about the troubled conditions of the New Haven? Was it not the necessity of disintegrating some-

MAN OVERBOARD BEATS VANITIE IN YACHT RACE

Sailor Falls Into Sea When Fore Stay Sail Sheet Parts and the Resolute Wins.

ASSOCIATED PRESS BOAT. Off Gloucester, R. I., June 5. (By Wire).

The difficulty of recovering a sailor who had fallen overboard when the forestay sail sheet of the yacht Vanitie parted caused Captain Dennis to withdraw from the third of the trial races which are to decide which American vessel shall defend the America's cup. The race went to the Resolute, which crosses the finish line of the 18-mile course in 53 minutes and 50 seconds, unofficial time.

Driving rain and flying spray drenched the crews of the cup defender candidates when the started on the race. The official starting times were: Vanitie, 1:00:21; Resolute, 1:01:57.

A 30-mile wind was blowing and the sound was covered with foam. The race promised an ideal test of heavy weather qualities. The course, as in yesterday's race, was to windward and leeward, 4 1/2 miles across the sound and back with a repeat.

The Vanitie crossed the starting line more than a minute ahead of her rival, but the Resolute pointed higher in the thrash to windward and began to cut down the lead.

The Vanitie crossed the line on the starboard tack 21 seconds after the Resolute. The Resolute was compelled to bear away and make another shot for the line. Captain Dennis got such a lead that 10 minutes after the start the Resolute was nearly a mile astern. The thrash to windward was a pretty struggle until at 1:25 o'clock the forestay sail sheet on the Vanitie parted. Meanwhile the Resolute rapidly closed up the gap and the Vanitie withdrew.

The Resolute continued and crossed the finish line at 1:55:47.

of the properties acquired, which, under various laws the New Haven had to dispose of after it had bought them."

"That had a good deal to do with it."

"You were not able to finance the New Haven as other large railroad systems usually are financed?"

"No, we were not. We were obliged to finance the system from year to year. Difficulties grew out of State laws and inquiries and public criticism."

"The purchase of trolleys and other properties, as I understand it," said Cromwell, "were made with some other view than the material value at the time the properties were acquired. Was not the object to make permanent the New Haven system?"

"That is correct."

Skinner said it was his belief that "if these had been allowed to go on and the New Haven and its officials had not been subjected to inimical inquiries and legislation, the property would have pulled out all right, perhaps, in five years."

Skinner testified yesterday that Charles S. Mellen could have retained the presidency of the New Haven had he so desired, as he had a majority of the directors with him.

Director Elton Testifies.

James S. Elton of Waterbury, Conn., a director of the New Haven, testifying yesterday said the acquisition of various properties at a cost of many millions of dollars constituted a part of the New Haven's plan to increase its facilities.

Many of the properties thus acquired, it was stated, had only a prospective value, the natural growth of New England being taken into consideration by the directors.

Elton, questioned on this point by William Nelson Cromwell, who appeared as counsel for several of the directors, declared that the purchase for $11,000,000 of the New York, Westchester & Boston road, the stock of which former President Mellen of the New Haven testified was worth only "10 cents a pound," was for the purpose of obtaining a foothold in the metropolitan district and procuring better terminal facilities in New York.

Elton testified that the directors of the New Haven had changed their methods and now were not influenced so much by one or two men like J. Pierpont Morgan and Mellen, as they formerly were. He said the "directors now direct" and "have learned a great many things." He added that President Mellen was more deliberate than Mellen and did not "rush them off their feet."

HOE JURY IS DEADLOCKED

Said to Favor Verdict for Girl, but 'sagged' on Amount.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The jury in the sensational $225,000 breach of promise suit of Miss Mae A. Sullivan against Arthur I. Hoe, son and heir of Robert Hoe, millionaire printing press manufacturer, was apparently hopelessly deadlocked yesterday.

A rumor about the county court-house was that the jury favored a verdict for Miss Sullivan, but was unable to agree on the amount.

WOMEN EXCLUDED FROM HEARING OF HILLSKOTTER SUIT

Even Mrs. Emma Mackinaw, Plaintiff, Stays Out of Room as Testimony Is Taken.

Women were excluded from the courtroom Thursday when the trial of Mrs. Emma B. Mackinaw's suit against Judge John E. Hillskotter of the Madison County Court for $20,000 slander damages was resumed in Edwardsville before Judge Crow. Even Mrs. Mackinaw, wife of the plaintiff, was excluded.

At Thursday's session William Daek, an Edwardsville Justice of the Peace, Emil Haagen, Assistant State's Attorney of Alton, and Charles H. Spillman, an Edwardsville newspaper man, testified that Judge Hillskotter had made disparaging remarks to them regarding Mrs. Mackinaw.

DOCTOR ARRESTED AFTER WOMAN KILLS HERSELF

Other, Who Also Killed Children, Attributed to Approaching Motherhood to Physician.

LONG BEACH, Cal., June 4.—Local authorities began an investigation today of circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Lena Raab, 29 years old, and her two daughters, Lena, 6 years old, and Lillian, 15 months old. All three were found late last night in their home with their throats cut.

Mrs. Raab left a note written in German in which, according to the police, she attributed her approaching motherhood to Dr. Walter B. Hill, a prominent Long Beach physician, and declared her intention of killing the children and herself.

Dr. Hill was taken into custody. He denied the charge.

Van Pink Cheeks—Red Lips?

Some unfortunate men and women are prone to wonder why some of their friends are blessed with an abundance of color—pink cheeks and red lips—while theirs are always colorless. The reason for this last named condition is—there is not enough red blood corpuscles in the blood—under a microscope the blood is thin and watery. The flesh is flabby, too. Well known physicians assert that the regular administration for several months, of three grain hypo-nucleic tablets will greatly improve the color, add to the weight, make the cheeks pink and the lips red, and in general be very beneficial. For self-administration, obtain from any of the best apothecary shops. ADVERTISE-

COMPETITION CUTS BEER TO 5c AT THE PLANTERS

Jefferson, Under Same Management, 17 Cents Rivals.

The price of domestic draught beer has been reduced from 10 cents a glass to 5 cents at the Planters Hotel, but at the Jefferson Hotel, which is under the same ownership, the 10-cent price still prevails.

Competition caused the reduction at the Planters. There are so many saloons in the neighborhood of that hotel that beer drinkers went elsewhere, in preference to paying 10 cents a glass for beer at the hotel bar.

At the Jefferson, there being no keen saloon competition, the price of a glass of beer is still 10 cents.

RAILWAY CHIEFS TESTIFY AGAINST SECURITIES BILL

Presidents of U. P., New York Central and Santa Fe Appear Before Senate Committee.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Three railroad presidents—A. H. Harris of the New York Central, Robert S. Lovett of the Union Pacific and Edward P. Ripley of the Santa Fe, appeared before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce yesterday to criticize the Rayburn bill, now before the House, which gives to the Interstate Commerce Commission power to oversee the issuance of railroad securities.

Harris said Congress should enact a Federal incorporation law, and abandon the proposed legislation. He told the committee that they were going about their trust legislation, as far as it relates to railroads, in the wrong way.

Judge Roberts Lovett of the Union Pacific and Chief Counsel Thom of the Southern nodded their assent to this proposition.

Applications Would Swamp Commission.

Harris said that within the last three years he had applied 75 times to states for permission to issue securities. If he had had to come to the Interstate Commerce Commission he would have presented 10 applications. The commission would be swamped inside of a year, and the financing of railroads cannot wait.

"Federal incorporation would simplify rate regulation," interrupted Judge Lovett.

"I would like very much to do that," said Senator Cummins, "but do you think that the New York Central for instance could make the change to a Federal corporation without getting the consent of New York State?"

Harris said that he thought such a change could be made without much difficulty; it would be like changing from a state to a national bank.

Judge Lovett then said: "I do not like to be a prophet of evil, but I believe that if this bill—the Rayburn bill—as amended by the Interstate Commerce Commission, be enacted into law, it would work great disaster. Many solvent roads in this country would go into the hands of receivers."

Could Not Extend System.

Judge Lovett had in mind when he made the foregoing statement the provision which gives the commission authority to pass upon all issues of securities. "The Union Pacific under this provision would not be able to buy lines to extend its system," declared Judge Lovett. "Improvements could not be made. Fast through trains could not be arranged for."

President Ripley opposed the Rayburn bill in some extended remarks. None of the railroad men had a good word for the bill.

Senator Brandegee asked if Judge Lovett would approve confining the prohibition of interlocking directorates to competing carriers.

"I can see no objection to that provided it is not made retroactive and applied to conditions that existed before the Sherman law was enacted," was the reply.

TRANSFER OF LIGHTING CONTRACT OBJECTED TO Alton Board of Trade to Charge That Piasa Company Gave Award to Traction Line.

Announcement was made Thursday by Secretary William Jostling of the Alton Board of Trade that the board would make complaint to the Public Utilities Commission of Illinois against the alleged switching of the Alton lighting contract by the Piasa Light and Power Co. to the Alton, Granite & St. Louis Traction Co.

It will be represented that in the award of the contract to the Piasa company competition was eliminated and that the Piasa company is not now and never has been equipped for furnishing light.

Up to two years ago the contract was held by the Alton, Granite & St. Louis Co. There was dissatisfaction, and at the urging of Mayor Faustich and members of the Council the Piasa company was organized. It was supposed to have Chicago capital behind it. Pending the erection of a plant, for which plans were said to have been drawn, an arrangement was entered into with the Alton, Granite & St. Louis company to continue the service. The arrangement is still in operation and the Piasa company is said to have turned over its contract to the other company. The contract is for 30 years.

The only property on which the Piasa company made a tax return last year in Madison County was one desk.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS' STORY OF BIGGEST WARSHIP

Everything From Candy to a Suit of Clothes Is on Sale, and There Are Movies, a Telephone Exchange and a Blacksmith Shop.

By Richard Harding Davis.

(Copyright, 1914, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)
VERA CRUZ, June 4.—When you see that the United States possesses the largest battleship in the world you must write very rapidly in order to finish before some other nation builds a larger one. This morning the New York and her twin sister, the Texas, are the most powerful dreadnaughts afloat.

But the Pennsylvania will be larger, and England and Germany are casting 15-inch guns and designing ships of greater tonnage. Up to the hour of going to press, however, the New York is still the biggest of our big sticks. Her tonnage is 27,000, her armament is the heaviest in the world, her wardrobe is the longest, and she cost $14,000,000. She boards and lodges 1000 officers and men, and at present has as guests Rear Admiral Winslow and his staff and 300 extra marines, with their tents, cots, field guns and munitions, and all of these latter fall to overcrowd her guests.

Ships Chase Men for Admiral.

With the running of the ship the Admiral is not much concerned. His mind is fixed on a fleet. The ships forming that fleet he moves about like chess men, the ocean being his chessboard. To him the New York is only one of his chess men.

Capt. T. S. Rogers commands the New York. He is the man highest up.

the man behind the men behind the 15-inch guns. Commander Day is concerned with his personnel. He assigns officers to their duties, distributes petty officers and men to different divisions of 50 men each. He is chief executive. Lieutenant-Commander Watts is navigating officer. He is responsible for the sailing of the ship. In his lockers he has charts for everyone of the seven seas. If today he received orders from Washington to proceed under forced draught to Haiti, to Zanzibar, he has in his chartroom the shortest possible route. In getting the ship there Chief Engineer Lieutenant-Commander Brown is still the biggest of our big sticks. He has charge of every engine pulled her share of the load, and should her errand be one of war, which in these days seems unlikely, Ordnance Officer Lieutenant Rowcliffe would look after the big guns and ammunition.

The housekeeper of the ship, the officer who is responsible for every can of paint and coil of wire and all that goes to make a ship clean, smart and serviceable, is Lieutenant-Commander Overstreet. Navigation, ordnance and engine I must leave to experts today. Even they must specialize. No officer can boast he understands every part of a modern battleship. His time is fully occupied if he devotes himself to gunnery, electricity, wireless, fire control, naval construction, component parts of high explosives, aviation, torpedoes, navigation, armament or engines.

Like a First-Class Hotel.

Apart from her navigation, guns and engines, the New York is like a first-class hotel or a floating village. If, instead of being riveted in between steel decks, her shops, offices and store, were spread in streets they would form a fairly large city. Of this town the 1300 men with appetites that come from exercise and sea air must be fed three times each day. Each one is entitled by law to three pounds of food, so every 24 hours 3900 pounds are consumed.

The American bluejacket is very particular about what is served to him, and he is very carefully protected. If on the bill of fare he is promised layer cake and no layer cake is served, that harsh treatment of the enlisted men must be explained to the Captain by the unhappy officer who evolves the menus, or the bluejacket can himself complain. If he finds a fly in the butter it is his right to carry that butter and that fly to the mast and from there it will be borne to the Captain himself.

When the New York left New York she carried 500 barrels of flour, 25,000 pounds of fresh meat, 25,000 cans of tinned fruit, 35,000 cans dried fruits, 15 kinds of breakfast foods, every vegetable, meat and sauce you can think of and many you might not like, pickled feet, kippered herrings, oysters, pumpkins and watermelons. I am quoting from the list of Paymaster Venable. The navy has solved the high cost of living. Three meals assembled from this choice list cost the department for all three just 35 cents.

But the bluejacket goes ashore, and in the best hotel in Vera Cruz spends four times that sum for a tough beefsteak smothered in garlic and flies, and those flies he cannot take to the mast. There are too many.

Stores of All Kinds.

In this floating village of his there is a clothing store which does a business of $35,000 a year, a general store where he can buy everything from wrist watches, cold cream, gumdrops, sweet meat puffs and velvet kisses to razors, plug tobacco and 14 kinds of soap. There is a barber shop, a drug store, a hospital, a telephone exchange with telephone numbers up to 255, a postoffice in which the clerk is under bond to the United States Postal Department, with regulation letter boxes on each deck, and a bank where each bluejacket can deposit his pay and receive 4 per cent interest.

Seventy-five per cent of the enlisted men either put their pay in this bank or sent it home. So many send all their pay home that it is necessary to warn them to keep enough for clothing. Paymaster Venable is authority for this statement. For the remaining 25 per cent he can testify that their pay is spent on parrots, watermelons, cabs and post cards. Other shops and industries in the village of the New York are laundry, printing offices, blacksmith shop, carpenter shop, machine shop and evaporator that takes from the ocean 40,000 gallons of salt water a day and then changes it into drinking water, and an ice plant that manufactures ice for the refrigerating plant and to keep the powder from going off before it is needed.

At night, when work is finished, although on the battleship it seems as if it never were, everybody goes to the "movies." Having purposely misdevised writing of any of these things that make her a ship of war, of the New York, as a village this evening's entertainment is one of the most gorgeous features. Far astern is stretched a 300-ft. canvas. Facing it, litting on the deck, are hundreds of khaki-clad marines and white-bellied bluejackets.

Peace has her victories as well as war, and of all the marvels of the greatest fighting ship in the world there is only one thing more uncanny than these pictures that lift us out of the Vera Cruz and carries us home. That one thing is a piece of glass as large as a breadboard. On the glass are painted the outline of a ship and various lines. It is in a burglar-proof cell in the bowels of the battleship.

When all the rest of the steering gear above deck is shot away it is from this burglar-proof steel vault that the New York will be navigated, and it is on this piece of glass, illuminated from the rear, that the ships of the enemy will be seen, their speed and position noted, and seeing them only as they pass upon this glass, the guns of the New York, from a range of seven or eight miles, will sink them.

DIVORCED AFTER 40 YEARS

Wife, 68, on Cruelly Charge.
Mrs. Anna Brush, 68 years old, obtained a divorce from Peter Brush, also in Circuit Judge Withrow's court yesterday. They were married 40 years ago and are now living in the same house at 3223 California avenue, she upstairs with two children, and he downstairs. Mrs. Brush charged her husband struck her and drank to excess. He resisted the suit, and charged that she once struck him with a hammer. Mrs. Brush sued for divorce in 1905, but a reconciliation was effected. Brush has property on Wyoming street valued at $10,000 which gives him a monthly income of $80. Mrs. Brush did not ask alimony and none was awarded.

ROWE VOTED FOR CHARTER FEATURES
HE NOW CONDEMNS

Freeholder in Letter Assails Efficiency System Which He Advocated Before Board.

Thomas J. Rowe, an attorney, who was one of the members of the Board of Freeholders who refused to sign the proposed new city charter, has written a letter to the Taxpayers' Protective Federation condemning many features of the charter.

Examination of the minutes of the Board of Freeholders shows that Rowe voted for every article of the charter, which he now condemns. He refused to vote for the charter as a whole because it provided for a Board of Aldermen of 28 members, instead of 14. But when the article providing for the Board of Aldermen of 28 members came up in the board for adoption he voted for it.

Spoke for Efficiency System.
In his letter Rowe denounced the efficiency system as a delusion and a snare. As a member of the Board of Freeholders he not only voted for the efficiency system, but spoke strongly in favor of it, declaring that it was one feature which would take control of the city government out of the hands of the politicians.

Rowe, in his letter, says the initiative, referendum and recall are "empirical and that in all probability they will turn out to be like a great many of the cure-all nostrums which are extensively advertised by the daily press."

The record of the Freeholders Board shows that Rowe voted for the initiative, referendum and recall, and was a strong advocate of them, suggesting some of the percentages which were adopted.

Rosenfeld Challenges Figures.
Rowe declares in his letter that the city would be tax-ridden under the new charter, and that the city payroll, which he fixes at $7,000,000, would be increased to $10,000,000. He does not tell how or why this would happen.

The accuracy of Rowe's figures were challenged by Freeholder Samuel Rosenfeld in a speech before the Real Estate Exchange. He asserted that Rowe had used the figures arbitrarily, and that they were incorrect. Rosenfeld insisted that the city payroll would be less under the new charter than under the old.

Wilbur Jones to Be Charter Speaker at School Patrons Meeting.

Wilbur Jones, secretary of the Board of Freeholders, will explain the provisions of the proposed new city charter at a mass meeting under the auspices of the Alabama School Patrons' Association in the school building, Alabama avenue and Bates street, at 8 p. m. Friday.

Roger N. Baldwin to Discuss Proposed Charter at Library Tonight.

Roger N. Baldwin, secretary of the Civic League, will deliver an address on "The Proposed New Charter for St. Louis," at a meeting to be held under the auspices of the Class of 1915, Benton College of Law, in the assembly hall of Central Public Library, at 8 p. m. Thursday.

SIGNS DESIGNED TO END BRIDGE BLOCKADES

Valley Park to Try Expedient—Report of Arrest of Dr. Koonce, Two Months Ago Erroneous.

Tired of blockades on the Dougherty Ferry bridge at Valley Park, citizens of the town have decided to place at either end of the bridge a large sign reading: "First on the bridge, first to cross." They will ask the St. Louis County Council to provide lights to illuminate these signs at night. Motorists and drivers who refuse to give way to each other cause the blockades.

In an account of one of these occurrences published in the Post-Dispatch Wednesday it was stated that Dr. W. A. Koonce of Valley Park was arrested two months ago on a charge of blocking the bridge. At that time Dr. Koonce was accused of blocking the bridge and holding it against another driver, but the complainant told a constable he did not wish to prosecute and Dr. Koonce was not arrested.

Saloon Man Finds Place Ablaze; Alarms Sleepers Above.

When Michael Kuska opened his saloon, 1563 Gratiot street, about 5 a. m. Thursday, he discovered the stock and fixtures ablaze. The physicians informed Wade that Campbell's condition was hopeful but that there was still danger of blood poisoning.

"Public Ownership
Will Tear Up

The Most Dangerous,

So says former Governor Walter Roscoe Stubbs, of Kansas, in an article on Public Ownership of Railroads, Waterways and Water Power. It is the most complete and comprehensive argument for public ownership that has been printed in any American periodical. It hits everyone, from the president and stockholder of the railroad down to the brakeman and the plain citizen who is kicking about the high cost of living.

VOTE ON TRUST BILLS EXPECTED ON SATURDAY

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The House today continued its general debate on the Rayburn Railroad securities bill, the last of the administration anti-trust measures, with the hope that a final vote on the entire program could be taken Saturday, or by Monday at the latest. Representative Adamson, in charge of the bill, expected to conclude the general debate tonight.

Beginning detailed consideration of the Rayburn bill tomorrow, the House may finish the reading of the measure for amendment by Saturday. If the Rayburn bill can be hurried through tomorrow, the final vote on the three anti-trust measures will be taken on Saturday. But if the last measure runs into Saturday, the record voting on the program will be put off until Monday.

The three measures, as amended by the House in committee of the whole, will be taken up for a final vote and it is expected an entire day will be spent in roll call on the bills.

PUBLIC SCHOOL SUMMER SESSION OPENS JUNE 15

It Is Estimated by Official That the Attendance Will Be About 12,000.

The seven weeks' summer session of the public schools will open June 15, three days after the close of the regular term of the elementary and high schools. Supt. Ben Blewett estimates the attendance will be upwards of 12,000. Only pupils above the third grade will be eligible for summer enrollment.

Two classes of specially selected children will be permitted to attend the sessions. Most of them have fallen behind because of illness, unavoidable absence or similar causes and have the ability to continue with their studies. The other class is composed of pupils who deserve special opportunities to advance themselves because of unusual application and diligence. Blewett says that substantial increases in salaries will be paid teachers, who will be expected to devote the entire morning each day to their work, thus insuring larger classes and greater individual attention to the pupils. The hours will be from 8:30 a. m. to 12:15 p. m.

The following schools will be open for the summer term: Soldan and Sumner (colored), for high school work; Ashland, Blow, Emerson, Rose Fanning.

Franklin, Glasgow, Humboldt, LeMay High, Vestman High, Monroe and Sumner High, for manual training work done in the Franklin, Henry and Sumner schools.

Most of the real estate sold in this city will be sold as a direct result of advertising. Have your agent selling campaign through the DISPATCH Big House, Home and Estate Directory.

VENOMOUS RAT
IN BANANA BUNCH IS FIERCE FIGHTER
Has No Fear of Humans and Often Puts Them to Flight.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 4.—Its tongue darting venomously, tail lashing and eyes bloodshot with anger, a banana rat, which came to this city by stowing away in a shipment of fruit from South America, arose to her full imperial height of three inches today and drove two women clerks and two salesmen from a fur store on Nicollet avenue. The small creature, whose bite is poisonous, had been confined in a glass jar and was to be used as a window display. Furious in imprisonment, it leaped at the glass stopper, bowed it over and escaped.

With the bravado of a mouse making for a quaking elephant it dashed at four persons. Sol Brennan and William Katzmann formed a rear guard, while Mrs. E. M. Sutherland and Miss Buge Evanston fled the place. With an umbrella Mrs. Brennan sent the rat flying toward a corner. Undismayed by being catapulted through the air, the fighting rodent paused a moment to "get set" and renewed the attack. The salesmen leaped through the door and closed it just in time to block the onslaught.

With the dangerous rat in possession the store was shut up and a sign hung out, "Dangerous; stay out." After a time, and heavily gloved and armed with a cane, William Weisman, proprietor of the fur store, ventured through the front door and prepared to lay the foe low. The battle didn't occur, for the animal escaped under a counter.
The rat is now believed to be somewhere in the building and occupants are uneasy.

The banana rat was first captured in the office of a fruit company after it heaved a bunch of bananas and corralled a dozen men in a corner.
It is the size of an ordinary rodent and is shaped like a kangaroo.

BUMBLE BEE, EDISON SAYS MAY TEACH AVIATORS
Wings Car 7000 Times Their Weight, Beat Air 200 Times a Second.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—Thomas A.
Edison believes that the humble bumble bee holds the secret which aviators have failed so far to find.

As the great inventor and his wife monitored here for the convention of the National Electric Light Association, they rested in a shady place and watched bees among the leaves.

"Do you know," said Edison, "as I watched I realized that a real plane, a heavier-than-air machine of great weight, can be built as soon as we obtain something that beats the air at the rate of 200 times a second."

He referred to an airship of great weight, gaining his inspiration from the bee as the Wright brothers gained theirs from observation of the buzzard.

"That bumble bee," he said, "was 1 inch long, 1/2 of an inch in diameter, with a wing 1/4 inch wide and 1/2 of an inch long. The wings weighed a milligram—that bee weighed 7000 times more than his wings. If we can only get to that the greatest weight for the smallest wing—that is the thing. The bee's wings beat the air 200 times a second.

"A bee works on sound waves. Remember the air is rigid as steel if the pressure is only sudden enough. Give us something that beats the air 200 times a second and we will have a real plane."

Last night in an interview before the banquet of the National Electric Light Association Edison said that he was working out a new problem, namely, the derivation of electricity direct from coal.
He is confident of success.

WOMAN IN COURT POINTS
LOADED PISTOL AT JUDGE
He Dodges Behind Bar Where
She Presses Trigger; Officer
Disarms Her.

DETROIT, Mich., June 4.—Municipal Justice Christopher Stein Jr., when holding court yesterday, looked into a loaded revolver while an excited woman pressed the trigger.

Fay Wells was on trial charged with disturbance of the peace. A policeman alleged she had threatened to shoot her husband. The husband, on the stand, produced the pistol.

"She pointed it right at my head,
Judge," said Wells, "and she was going to shoot."

Mrs. Wells, who was seated near her spouse, grabbed the weapon and jumped to her feet banishing it.

"Look, Judge," she said, "the old thing is rusty, and it won't work."

The revolver was pointed straight at the judge, who sought shelter behind the bar of justice.

"Grab that gun," was the judicial order.

"It isn't loaded, anyway," said Mrs.
Wells, as the weapon was wrested from her hand. An officer opened the weapon.
Six cartridges clattered to the floor.

Refugee Tells of Sinking of Karluk from St. Michael, where Capt. Robert
A. Bartlett was landed last Friday by the whaler Herman. The Karluk was crushed in the ice and sank 60 miles north of Herald Island, northeast of Siberia, Jan. 16.

Capt. Bartlett reported that while the Karluk was drifting with the ice it was impossible for the men aboard to make a safe landing and they stayed by the ship until she was crushed, when they loaded their sledges with provisions and made their way over the ice to Wrangle Island.

They have sufficient provisions and fuel to last until a relief ship can reach them. Capt. Bartlett remained on Wrangle Island until March 18, when with one Eskimo and a dog team, he set out over the ice for the Siberian coast, where he was picked up by the Herman. Capt. Bartlett expects to depart for Seattle on the first steamer from Nome.

SAYS HORN CAUSED WOMAN'S STEP TO DEATH UNDER AUTO

William H. Nobbe of 6228 Murdock avenue, whose automobile ran down and fatally injured Miss Harriet R. Arnold of 2028A North Newstead avenue Wednesday morning, told the police after her death at the city hospital that he believed his action in sounding his horn to warn her was responsible for the accident.

Nobbe said Miss Arnold was crossing Fourth and Chestnut streets diagonally from the Pierce Building corner and was walking toward the courthouse corner. He was driving south on the west side of Fourth street. It seemed to him, he said, that she was going to walk in front of the machine and he sounded his horn. She stopped and he proceeded, sounding his horn again.

Says She Grew Confused.
The "honk-honk" of the wind horn seemed to confuse her and she stepped in front of the machine when it was almost even with her. As it struck her she clutched the hood in an attempt to save herself, but was knocked under the machine and brought the car to a stop within a few feet, Miss Arnold being in front of the rear axle when the machine stopped.

Nobbe told the police he believed if he had not sounded the horn Miss Arnold would have remained standing in the street and that he could have passed under her.

WOMAN WHO DIED AFTER BEING STRUCK BY AUTO

MISS HARRIET ARNOLD.

Nobbe placed Miss Arnold, who was unconscious, in the machine and took her to the city hospital. In her purse was found a card directing that in case she was injured she should be taken home and not to the city hospital. She died Wednesday evening at the hospital without regaining consciousness.

REALTY EXCHANGE IS UNANIMOUS IN INDORSING CHARTER

Vote to Join Campaign Taken
After Freeholder Rosenfeld
Explains New Draft.

PREDICTS LOWER TAXES

Speaker Says Cost of Running City Will Be Lessened by the Efficiency System.

How the proposed new city charter will reduce the cost of the city government and automatically reduce the tax rate was explained to the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange Wednesday afternoon by Freeholder Samuel Rosenfeld. Following speeches by Rosenfeld and William B. Jones, the exchange voted unanimously to indorse the charter and lend its support to the campaign for its adoption.

Under the efficiency system there will be more but competent employees on the city payroll, Rosenfeld declared. There will be a consolidation of the engineering forces of the different departments of the Board of Public Improvements. Employees of any department, when there is no work for them to do, may be transferred to any other department where there is work.

This system, he asserted, would prevent city employees from being idle a considerable portion of their time, and combined with the efficiency system would result in materially reducing the amount of money paid out in salaries, which Rosenfeld said now amounted to more than $10,000,000 a year.

Two Big Cities Have "Spolis System."
St. Louis and Baltimore are the only two large cities where the "spolis system" prevails, Rosenfeld said. All the other big cities have adopted the efficiency system. Cities like Boston and Cleveland, which recently have adopted new charters, Rosenfeld said, are making great progress. The standing of St. Louis as the "Fourth City" is being threatened by both Boston and Cleveland, he declared.

The real estate men showed a deep interest in Rosenfeld's explanation of the municipal ownership powers conferred on the city by the new charter. The fact that the new charter provides that the city may have the power to own any kind of public utility and issue bonds against it to pay for the property appealed strongly to the real estate men.

Rosenfeld said he went to Chicago to investigate the method of handling the street car situation there. Under an agreement between the city and the surface line railways, Rosenfeld said, Chicago has already acquired a fund of $14,000,000 from franchise privileges, and by the time the franchises expire in 1927 the city will have $50,000,000 to apply to their purchase.

"And what will St. Louis have under its antiquated system?" Rosenfeld asked. "We have incorporated in the new charter the exact franchise provisions of Chicago, so that the city may at some future time take advantage of the street car situation, just as Chicago has done."

Explains New Methods.
He explained how the finances of the city would be handled by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, comprised of the Mayor, the Comptroller and president of the Board of Aldermen. He drew the attention of the real estate men to the fact that Comptroller Playter recently recommended a tax rate of $2.30, but that the Municipal Assembly arbitrarily increased it to $2.35, and that as the result of a fight between the Council and the House of Delegates $150,000 had been provided for in the appropriations bill, without knowing what it was to be used for.

Jones, who had been secretary to the Board of Freeholders, answered many questions asked by the real estate men with respect to condemnation proceedings and the workings of the Assessor's office.

Fred G. Zelbig, who was a member of the 1910 Board of Freeholders, said that while the proposed charter did not suit him as well as the one he helped to write, he thought it was an admirable instrument and moved that a vote of thanks be tendered to the Board of Freeholders for their work in writing the charter. He also seconded the motion to indorse the charter and co-operate with the Citizens' Campaign Committee for its adoption.

Rowe Opposes Charter.
President Bokern and the secretary of the Exchange will become members of the Charter Campaign Committee. Toward the close of the meeting a member brought in a copy of a letter written by Thomas J. Rowe, member of the Board of Freeholders, opposing the charter. Rosenfeld declared that Rowe had voted for every article in the new charter with the exception of the article creating the legislative scheme. His objection to that was that it provided for 25 members, when Rowe wanted 14.

"With the single exception of the legislative provisions of this charter it represents practically the unanimous views of the 13 members of the Board of Freeholders," Rosenfeld said. "It was not until a few days before adjournment that objection was raised on that point."

The Twenty-fifth Ward Democratic Club met Wednesday night and voted unanimously to indorse the new charter. The Twenty-fifth Ward Republican Club voted several weeks ago to indorse the charter, and as the Progressive City Committee is a whole was voted to indorse the charter, the three leading political organizations of the ward now are committed to its support.

Chairman Stix, and Vice-Chairman William C. Connett, of the finance committee, met with Secretary Jones Thursday to select the other members of the committee. Numerous business men have accepted membership on the committee to aid in raising funds for the new charter.

MAN SHOOTS HIS RIVAL; WOMAN IS HELD AS WITNESS

Louis Bruno, Who Said He Paid for Woman's Divorce, Wounds Younger Suitor.

Mrs. Elizabeth Merrick, 23 years old, a divorcee, spent Wednesday night in a cell wondering why the police were holding her in connection with a shooting in which she was the central figure. She protested that while she may have been the innocent cause of the affray she took no part in it.

Louis Bruno, 47 years old, a bachelor, of 33 South Fifteenth street, who claims Mrs. Merrick as his fiancée, shot and probably fatally wounded Charles Mason, 22 years old, of 2102 Olive street, to whom Mrs. Merrick says she is engaged to marry. The shooting occurred about 10:30 p. m. in the flat above Bruno's apartments.

Mrs. Merrick, who divorced Steven L. Merrick a week ago, was employed by Bruno as housekeeper until last Friday. He told the police he paid for her divorce and was tentatively engaged to marry her. A week ago, he said, he heard Mrs. Merrick had transferred her affections to Mason, and that when he quarreled with her about it, she moved to the upstairs flat.

When Bruno arrived home Wednesday night a neighbor told him Mason was calling upon Mrs. Merrick. He went upstairs with a pistol and after shooting Mason in the left breast, beat him on the head with the handle of the weapon. Mason was taken to the city hospital and Bruno and Mrs. Merrick were arrested.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY RETURNS 16 INDICTMENTS

Theft of Check Written by W.
K. Bixby Is Charged to One of Men.

The March Federal grand jury was discharged by Judge Dyer Thursday, after having reported 16 indictments. Of these, 12 were made public. Most of these were on charges of stealing from interstate shipments of freight.

Charles R. Homan, former clerk of the Rozier Hotel, was indicted on charges of having erased cancellation marks on postage stamps and tried to use them for new stamps and of having stolen from the mail a check sent by W. K. Bixby to Guy Goltzman in payment for grand opera seats.

Sam Mintz was indicted on a charge of "aiding, abetting and counseling" Thomas Meyers, William Walker and Christy Dolan to steal a case of shoes from a freight car. Meyers, Walker and Dolan were indicted on charges of stealing the shoes.

The Widow's Lot

This Time the Lot Happens to Be a Piece of Realty, Which the Judge's Butler Aids Her in Getting $1500 For.

By Freeman Putney Jr.

MR. ABRAM CLEVERLY, attorney-at-law, dealer in real estate in general and seller of choice lots at Sea View Extension in particular, smiled genially as he crossed Main street.

"Roberts!" he exclaimed. "Welcome again to Hardyport! You're here for the season, I take it?"

Roberts' pale English face, close shaven except for the narrow side whiskers which marked his position as butler, showed embarrassment and possibly a faint flush of resentment at the effusive greeting. He met Mr. Cleverly's eager grip with a limp hand.

"Yes, sir. We're back to the seashore again."

Mr. Cleverly seemed not at all abashed by the other's coolness.

"Delighted to see you, Roberts! Won't you honor the occasion? You must—really, I insist, Roberts!"

"Only ginger ale for me, thank you, sir," said Roberts, as he found himself seated at a small table on the veranda of the pavilion into which the energetic Mr. Cleverly had dragged him.

"On the water wagon, Roberts? Good resolution, Roberts! Very good! I believe Judge Burr doesn't approve of drinking among his employees, does he?"

"He does not like his servants to use liquor."

For some reason there was a distinct blush on the butler's cheeks.

"Um—! Mr. Cleverly slipped his drink for a few moments seemed to be considering something."

"Is Judge Burr in town now?"

"He is over at the cottage, I presume. We arrived Tuesday. This is my afternoon off."

"Roberts!" exclaimed the lawyer suddenly, "I got you off nicely that time last summer, didn't I?"

There was an expression almost of pain on Roberts' face.

"I suppose you did, sir."

"Drunk and disorderly was the charge, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

"I did you quite a good turn, Roberts."

"What Is So Rare as a Day in June?"

"I paid you for it," returned the butler with some spirit.

"Only the fee, Roberts. Only the fee for my services as attorney. You didn't pay me for keeping the matter out of the newspapers. Nothing was paid for the care I took that Judge Burr shouldn't know, was there?"

"I suppose not. But if I owe you anything, I'm willing to pay."

"You mistake me, Roberts. You mistake me. I did you a favor out of pure friendship. Pure friendship! Now, possibly, you can do me a little kindness in return."

The Englishman was silent.

"It's this way: You know the Widow Barney?"

"The lady whose husband went to school with Judge Burr? Yes, I know her."

"That's the one. She is a client, or I might say, a customer of mine. A few months ago she bought one of our lots at Sea View Extension, at my solicitation, perhaps she might say on my advice. She paid $800 for it, and I gave her a decided bargain due to the fact that this sum was all the ready money she had."

He stopped, took another pull at his glass, and then continued:

"Mrs. Barney, I am sorry to say, has some mischievous and meddling friends, who have been endeavoring to instill into her mind—and with some success, too—the idea that she was cheated when she bought the land."

"The lot is no good?"

"Perfectly good! Perfectly good! Of course, there is no immediate market for it, just now, most buyers preferring something a little more accessible, but the possibilities of the property are wonderful."

"Excuse me, Mr. Cleverly, but what has this to do with me?"

"Just this, Roberts! I understand that Mrs. Barney will go to Judge Burr for advice. I want you to be around when she comes, and let me know the advice he gives her."

"I can't do it, sir! You should not ask me, Mr. Cleverly!"

"Roberts!"

Abram Cleverly leaned forward, his elbows on the table, his chin thrust out.

"Roberts, you have a family?"

"Yes."

"You need to support them?"

"Yes."

"Would Judge Burr employ a man who had been up in the Police Court as drunk and disorderly?"

"You needn't go on, Mr. Cleverly. I'll see what I can do."

Abram's smile returned.

"I know you were a sensible man. When you learn anything, drop in at my office, and report. And, another thing, I'm not mean, Roberts, and I'll pay you for your trouble."

It was a week later that Roberts reported at the lawyer's office.

"What was the Judge's advice?"

Abram leaned forward eagerly.

"He advised Mrs. Barney to hold on to the lot."

"What? The Judge thinks it a good investment?"

"He didn't say that. He simply told her that if she kept quiet now he thought she would get much more than she paid for it."

"But why?"

"Excuse me, sir, but Judge Burr is treasurer of the Eastern Shore Club."

"What of that?"

"And the club people have bought the big tract of wild land beyond the widow's lot!"

The lawyer sat up in astonishment. The Eastern Shore Club was composed of the wealthiest residents of the whole section. Whatever the Eastern Shore Club wanted it got—and usually paid well for.

"I have it," he exclaimed aloud after some reflection. "There's a little beach in front of Mrs. Barney's lot. They're going to build a clubhouse and they want it for a private bathing beach. When is the widow coming to see the Judge again, Roberts?"

"Not soon, I fancy, sir. The Judge goes West tonight for a two weeks' business trip."

"Well, Roberts, I'm much obliged to you," and he held out a yellow-backed $20-bill. The butler hesitated a moment, then took it.

"Thank you, sir. I hope you have what you wanted, sir."

It took Abram Cleverly but a short time to decide on his course of action, nor did he waste many hours in entering upon it. Judge Burr was in the West; just where, no one seemed to know. Every telegram which Mrs. Barney sent to the effect that Mr. Cleverly was trying to buy back her land remained unanswered.

Abram brought every one of his many arts to bear upon the widow, returning to the attack each day with new arguments and a fresh offer. Finally the old lady, yielding to the temptation to grasp what seemed to her a fabulous profit, sold him back the land for an even $1500.

The deeds were passed and recorded and the cash safely placed in the bank, where it comfortably awaited Mrs. Barney's rather lean account. Mr. Cleverly settled himself to wait for Judge Burr's return and an offer from the Eastern Shore Club.

The day after the Judge came back he visited Lawyer Cleverly's office. Nothing was said about real estate until Abram, firm in the knowledge of his position, remarked:

"By the way, Judge, I've bought that lot at the end of the Sea View Extension."

"Yes," said the Judge politely.

"You know, the one next the Eastern Shore Club's new tract."

"So?"

The Judge's tone was still that of polite inquiry. Abram was a little puzzled. "Forgetting his intention to let the club begin negotiations, he blundered: "I thought you club people might like it."

"What for?"

"Well, for a bathing beach."

"We've got one beach."

"But that's half a mile away."

"It will be near the new clubhouse."

"What?"

"The new clubhouse is to be at the other end of the property."

"It is."

"Then the Barney land is worthless to you?"

"I've always considered it worthless to us or to anyone else."

"Then what did you mean by telling Mrs. Barney—"

"What did I tell Mrs. Barney?"

"You told her she could get much

The Thrush and the Hen

Sandman Story the Moral of Which Is That Each of Us Is Important in His Own Way and That Way, Only.

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

ONE day a thrush sat on the limb of a tree singing very sweetly, when Brown Hen came along making suit a noise with her cackling that it quite drowned the sweet tones of the thrush.

The thrush waved its wings and said: "Madame Hen, your voice is so harsh it is enough to drive one distracted. I wonder your master can put up with such a noise."

"I do not sing," replied Brown Hen. "That is quite true; but I lay nice eggs and that pleases the master better than your singing."

"What a conceited creature you are, to be sure," said the thrush. "How can anyone think you are more pleasing than I am with my graceful form and sweet voice?" And she began to sing her highest notes.

Brown Hen ran away and returned with Black Hen and Gray Hen to help her convince the thrush that hens were more important than she was, even with her sweet voice. When the rooster saw them running he dropped a big worm he was eating and followed to see what was going on.

The turkey saw the rooster running and they joined the procession. Then Madame Duck waddled as fast as she could, not wishing anything to escape her.

"Where is everybody going?" asked the goose, stretching her neck, and joining the chase.

"I do not know," replied the dog, "but I believe I will find out." So he ran with the others, and soon there was a long procession of animals running toward the tree where the thrush sat.

She stopped singing when she saw them, and Brown Hen said, "Madame Thrush thinks she is of more importance in the world than I am."

"Can you lay an egg?" asked the duck. "Or crow for the sun to shine for him?" asked the rooster. "Or furnish him with a nice dinner?" said a turkey. And so they all related what they could do to prove their worth and the poor thrush, chattered as loud as she could and flapped her wings with anger, and to be heard at all above the bawling fowls, she had to scream, and she strained her voice.

The dog all this time had not said a word, but after listening for a while to the dispute, he began to bark and everyone stopped talking to find out what had happened. "Who ever heard such a noise?" said the dog; "one would think you all were crazy; let the thrush sing for us and then I will tell you what I think about the matter."

"As you do not sing or lay eggs for the master, we will let you settle the dispute," said the hen.

The thrush was very glad to display her powers, so she stretched herself on the limb and opened her bill, but the cracked notes that poured forth drove the animals in all directions.

"Stop! stop!" cried the dog. The thrush stopped and looked about in wonder, for she could not believe it was her voice.

The animals came running back, cackling and quacking. "Do you call that singing?" asked Black Hen. "It was worse than the bray of the donkey," said the rooster. The poor thrush sat quite dumb.

"Be quiet," said the dog. "The thrush has used her delicate throat in quarreling and trying to convince you that she was more important than the hen and more for her land than she paid for it."

"Well," said the Judge, "didn't she?"

"Double-crossed!" exclaimed Abram, striking the table.

"Not at all," returned Judge Burr. "Roberts told you the exact truth. If you drew false inferences, it is your own fault. Roberts is faithful, even if he did get drunk. By the way, there is something he wished me to return to you."

He tossed a yellow-backed $25-bill on the desk and walked out.

Beautiful Woman and Ugly Men

THOSE of us who have seen a beautiful woman posing before her mirror and later before an audience may not agree entirely with Elsie Ferguson, the actress, who declares that beautiful women do not value their beauty.

"I have never known a beautiful woman who really cared much about her beauty," she says. "Living with it as her daily companion she comes to slight it and to underestimate it. She knows it is her friend; she believes it will help her to get on. She would realize, were she audacious to lose it, that a great loss had befallen her. But her usual thought about it is not a flattering one."

"Beautiful women marry plain men," Miss Ferguson argues, because they represent distinct forces in the world. Men who have done things worth while have seldom been good looking. Another reason why a beautiful woman marries a plain man is that even though she has not a thimbleful of brains herself, she admires this quality in a man. And I fail to recall in my own experience where a man who had noted beauty also had sense. Men who are not handsome are more likely to get on in the world. The very intensity of their efforts sharpens their features, hardens their faces and renders them brusque. Women, no matter how tenderly reared, seem to recognize this."

suppose they would have kept on wrangling and not an egg would have been laid today," he said, "if I had not settled the matter. I have to look out for the barnyard as well as the house."

PREACHER PRAYED THAT THEY BE SLAIN, 3 DEACONS SAY

Pastor Explains He Only Implored That a Few "First-Class Funerals Be Held."

HE RELUCTANTLY RESIGNS

New York Baptist Clergyman Had Been Forced to Do Same Thing in Connecticut.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 4.—When Rev. Albert Deojay, pastor of the Mariners' Harbor Baptist Church, Staten Island, found that enemies in his congregation were besetting him sorely he didn't steal any of Joshua's stuff and ask to have the sun stand still to give him time to put them out of the way. His method was entirely different. He got up in meeting and asked Heaven to slay his enemies for him. At least that is what three deacons and several other members of his flock told a reporter yesterday. The Rev. Mr. Deojay said:

"Pastor Deojay did not pray that death might overtake his persecutors, but did pray that God might remove any stumbling blocks that stood in the way of the spiritual progress of the church, even to the extent of superintending a few first-class funerals that the work of Jesus might go on."

He Reluctantly Resigns. As the Rev. Mr. Deojay is about to reluctantly resign (by a vote of 46 to 21, taken last Wednesday night) the pastorate of his church, he said he would like nothing plainer about it. But as something had to be published, he thought that something like this would be nice:

"Pastor Deojay did not try to 'fire' the deacons. He simply withdrew from them the hand of fellowship in the church. He remarked in a private meeting that when they were installed they had sworn to be honest, sober and to only stick to one wife. He did not feel that he could join with them in communion after what they had done."

The Rev. Mr. Deojay came to the Mariners' Harbor Baptist Church, where he got $3000 a year and the use of the parsonage, one year ago last March. He had just (reluctantly) left the pastorate of the Baptist church in Banksville, Conn.—a $2500 a year job—where he gained a reputation as "the hell-fire pastor."

"Devil in Belfry"—Plaster Falls. The Banksville deacons asked him to resign not long after he had said in a sermon, "the devil is in the belfry." A lot of plaster fell off the belfry right after he had said the devil was there, and many persons wanted to know what was the use of disturbing the devil to that extent, even if he did happen to be in the belfry. They said such things cost money. Members also said Mr. Deojay was too "hell-fired" personal in his sermon.

But he didn't depart—not until the doors of the church had been locked against him on prayer meeting nights and Sundays, and the State Baptist Association had arbitrated the affair.

As this chapter in his former pastorate had appeared in various newspapers the reporter asked the Rev. Mr. Deojay about them yesterday. He smiled and showed a letter, written to a newspaper by a deacon of the Banksville church, which showed that the Rev. Mr. Deojay had been in the right. The pastor did not deny anything, just said, "That is slightly exaggerated."

CITY VOTES $500 TO WOMAN DOG-CATCHER

Millions' ees Says It Costs Her $3500 a Year to Impound Curs in Exclusive Kennels.

MILWAUKEE, June 4.—By a vote of three to two, the City Finance Committee decided to take $500 from the contingent fund to be paid to Miss Lenore Cawker, Milwaukee's millionaire dog catcher, for impounding stray dogs. This work will be done by Miss Cawker and the Wisconsin Humane Society under the direction of the Health Department.

Miss Cawker presented figures to the committee showing that the work which she is at present carrying on for the city costs her $3500 a year. During 1913, she explained, 2605 stray dogs were picked up and dispatched humanely under her directions.

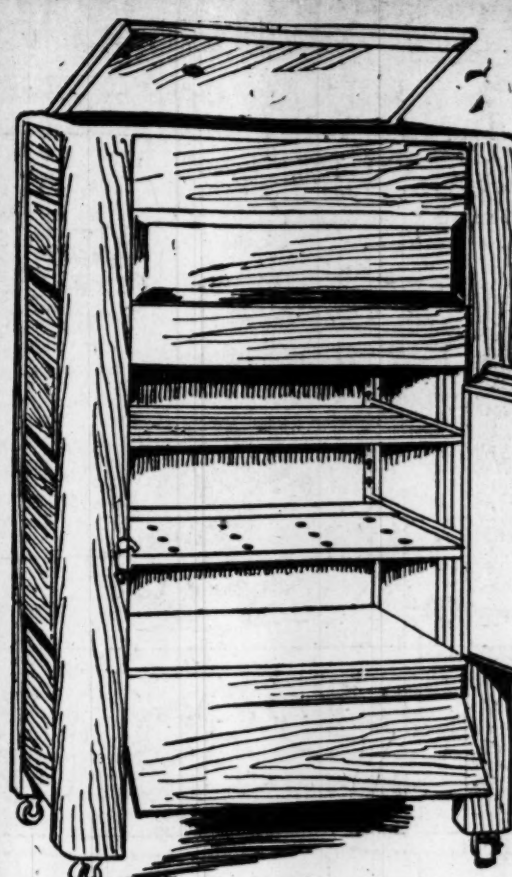

Miss Cawker hires two men and provides an automobile for the dog catching and maintains at her own expense kennels in an exclusive part of the city where dogs are cared for until claimed or chloroformed.

Splendid Remedy for Eczema

Also for Salt Rheum, Acne, Tetter, Psoriasis and Other Skin Troubles.

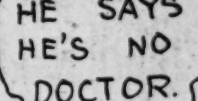

After using S. S. S. for a while, the characteristic marks of all skin troubles change completely. When eczema has become chronic the lower skin loses its power to direct impurities and thus they continue to gather in the weak spots where the already attacked. The action of S. S. S. is that of an antidote, and this fact has been demonstrated time and time again in the most severe forms of eczema.

Its influence in the tissues where the tiny arteries transfer the red blood for the worn-out blood to the veins is quite remarkable and goes on constantly with every tick of the clock—the best of the heart.

And new skin is thus caused to form while the germs of irritating infections that cause eczema are scattered and their harmful nature entirely suppressed. S. S. S. has a wonderful tonic influence in the blood because it contains no "drugs," is entirely free of any mineral drugs or any other drugs except the remarkable medicinal effect of the pure vegetable products of which it is made. Few people realize how harmful are many of the strong, crude stimulants that used to be in favor before they learned that S. S. S. is safe, speedy and sure. Ask at any drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. Give it a good trial and you will soon see a decided improvement in any form of skin trouble. Goat Mascot of Harvard Crew Is Stolen by Yale

RED TOP, Conn., June 4.—There was great disappointment in Harvard's rowing camp yesterday when news arrived that Charles Higginson's pedigreed billy had been captured by Yale and was being held a captive at Ell quarters. Soon after the first bulletin arrived came word that the second of the two fish types had been clipped on the left side of his goathlip.

This was the last straw, and a telephone call from Red Top to Yale club house informed the New Haveners that the goat, owing to its "mutilated" appearance, was to be sold as a "goat-ginslip" put the price of the animal at $100.00. The fish was then seen speeding down to Red Top aboard Payse Whitney's fast launch Tarpon. After a short time the fish was seen to haveatives an agreement was reached whereby the Yale oarsmen were willing to

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. MCCARDELL.

Mr. Jarr Witnesses the Last Fight of a Man-Eating Folding Bed at Bay.

THE suggestion that all the gentlemen present: Fritz, the shipping clerk; Malachi, the night oiler at the brewery; Sweeney, the policeman, and Mr. Jarr should all lift the end of the folding bed was a good suggestion.

Even La Belle Rotunda, the fat sister of Fritz, who was enjoying a fit of long-distance hysterics in the unfolded folding bed, must have felt the influence of the uplift movement in which all these strong men were interested. Also the imprudent moving picture operator behind the door the unfolded folding bed blocked shouted his approval of the plan.

"Up, with the thing quick, and make the fat dame do a headspin!" he had shouted.

But, while the plan to lift up the folding bed, let the consequences be what they might, was a good one, the unfolded bed not only jammed the door of the back parlor bedroom shut, but the foot of it came so close to the side wall toward the hall of Fritz's narrow ground floor flat that nobody could get between the foot of the bed and the wall.

With the folding bed folded, there was passageway to the room occupied by the moving picture operator and to open and shut the door, but with the bed down the whole end of the front room was blocked.

"Can't we get a hold on it on this side toward the foot and all lift together?" asked the policeman.

"If you do the weight of the party will bust up the folding bed," said Fritz, "and the installments are pretty nearly all paid on it!"

"La Belle Rotunda, hearing herself alluded to by her own brother as a 'party,' although she was large enough to be one, commenced to wail louder than ever that nobody loved her."

"You never said a truer word in your life, Fanny," snarled Fritz. "There ain't nobody in this house every going to love you either. You shut up one of those guys of a boarder, Jimmie Peters, in the little room. And you done wrong by Malachi here, who is working nights and needs his bed day times!"

"Nobody loves me!" was the only reply of Fritz's fat sister.

"Can you beat the dames?" asked the exasperated Fritz, looking around.

"Here's me own sister comes in and distorts everything, puts the whole house on the bum, and yet wants everybody to love her! She blocks one board-

BOTH TOGETHER: "Isn't she positively silly!"

er in his room, she keeps another out of his bed in the daytime, and yet her jest visiting me keeps me from taking in another boarder who might have the folding bed at night when Malachi is working at the brewery."

"We'll have to do something to make her get up," said Mr. Jarr. "That poor young man penned in the little room must be nearly suffocating."

"Oh, he's all right," replied Fritz. "He's been working so long in the projecting booths of them little movie theaters that if he was to get a breath of fresh air he'd strangle."

"I'll tell you what we can do," suggested Sweeney, the policeman. "I want to get this dame out of that, because I want to see if she's as tall standing up as she is lying down. So I'll get under the bed if Fritz will get under with me, and we'll lift it with our backs till we get it high enough for this gent and Malachi to get between the wall and the foot and lift."

"But can you and Fritz raise it up from underneath, do you think?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Sure!" said the policeman. "Before I went on the force I used to accompany Paderewski on the piano."

"What do you mean, accompany Paderewski on the piano?" inquired Mr. Jarr, who was commencing to believe that everybody was insane.

"I used to accompany him to move the piano," explained Sweeney. "Get under with me, Fritz!"

The scheme worked like a charm. By grunting and lifting together in unison, the shipping clerk and the policeman raised their backs; and up came the bed, slowly but surely, leaving room for Malachi, the little boarder, to slip in between the foot and the side wall.

Mr. Jarr's guardian angel held him back.

"All together now!" wheezed the policeman.

"Wait till I spit on me hands!" cried Malachi.

And down came the bed, pinning the underlings to the door and Malachi to the wall!

Mean.

"We're going to sell a lot of home-made cakes at the church fair."

"And put the proceeds into the sinking fund, I suppose."

Stories St. Louisans Tell

S'MATTER POP?

AURENCE EWALD, the architect, has a 5-year-old son-another one of those tousled-headed little shavers of the Buster Brown type. Just as apt, and who answers to the name of "Binks."

"The other day," relates Mr. Ewald, who tells the story, "it was up to Binks to send an out-of-town cousin a birthday present, and, with his mother, went downtown and purchased a red pocketbook similar to the one I had given him a few weeks before."

"After he returned home and displayed his purchase to the family, someone suggested that if Binks intended to do 'the right thing' he ought to put some money in the purse before mailing it."

"Fine idea," ejaculated Binks in whatever is Binks' way for expressing "Fine idea," and then he added, word for word, after sneaking a look toward me with one of his eyes squinted tight:

"But don't put nothin' but pennies in it, so paywents won't barter it for carfare, if Cousin Bill happens to leave it layin' around some-time."

"Well, what on earth put such an idea into the child's head?" exclaimed Mrs. Ewald.

"S'matter, Pop? Ask Dad," said Binks.

DO ANY OF THESE FIT YOU?

Science is defined as the pursuit of truth, but there are a good many scientists who will never catch up.

Even after a man has made up his mind there is rarely much demand for it.

It is astonishing how many people think they were born great; and so satisfied are they with the thought that they never do anything.

Estimated from wife's experience, the average man spends fully one-quarter of his life in looking for his shoes.

A man may have the courage to face battle, murder and sudden death, without flinching, and yet never reach the point where he can turn on his own cold shower bath without a shudder of real panic.

After a woman has fixed her husband's bath, laid out his collar and shirt, found his socks, and handed him his handkerchief, his hat and his gloves, he loves to sit around and make cynical remarks about "the length of time a woman takes to dress."

Many a man's reputation for doing things is won by those whom he employs to do them.

Don't take up a man's time telling him how smart your children are. Remember he wants to tell you how smart his own are.

To start things coming your way, pretend that you have already an abundance.

Most people do unto others as they would be done by-leave them alone.

Many failures are due to the mistaken idea one may get about the ease of doing things from seeing those who knew just how to do them.

Professional Courtesy.
